

First Nations Community Engagement

The First Nations Education Policy is being developed to drive real change so learners can thrive across their education journey, from early childhood through schooling and into post-school pathways.

For too long, First Nations people have called for an education system that is safe, respects our rights, and supports self-determined education pathways. Governments must do more.

NATSIEC is hosting in-person workshops across the country to hear from First Nations teachers and educators, First Nations staff in local learning settings, First Nations people working across education systems and sectors, and First Nations staff in youth and education focused organisations, particularly ACCOs.

Recognising that not all communities can attend in person, online options will also be available, including a survey and a webinar series.

In-Person Workshops

Western Australia

Kinjarling (Albany) - 9 Feb
Kalgoorlie - 11 Feb
Boorloo (Perth) - 13 Feb
Jambinu (Geraldton) - 18 Feb
Karratha - 20 Feb
Rubibi (Broome) - 23 Feb
Halls Creek - 26 Feb

Australian Capital Territory

Canberra - 31 March

Tasmania

Nipaluna (Hobart) - 11 March
Launceston - 13 March

Northern Territory

Gulumoerrgin (Darwin) - 2 March
Katherine - 4 March
Mparntwe (Alice Springs) - 6 March

Queensland

Megandjin (Brisbane) - 9 March
Rockhampton - 11 March
Townsville - 13 March
Mt Isa - 16 March
Gimuy (Cairns) - 19 March
Torres Strait Islands - 23 - 25 March

To register for a workshop or survey, please visit:

linktr.ee/natsiec